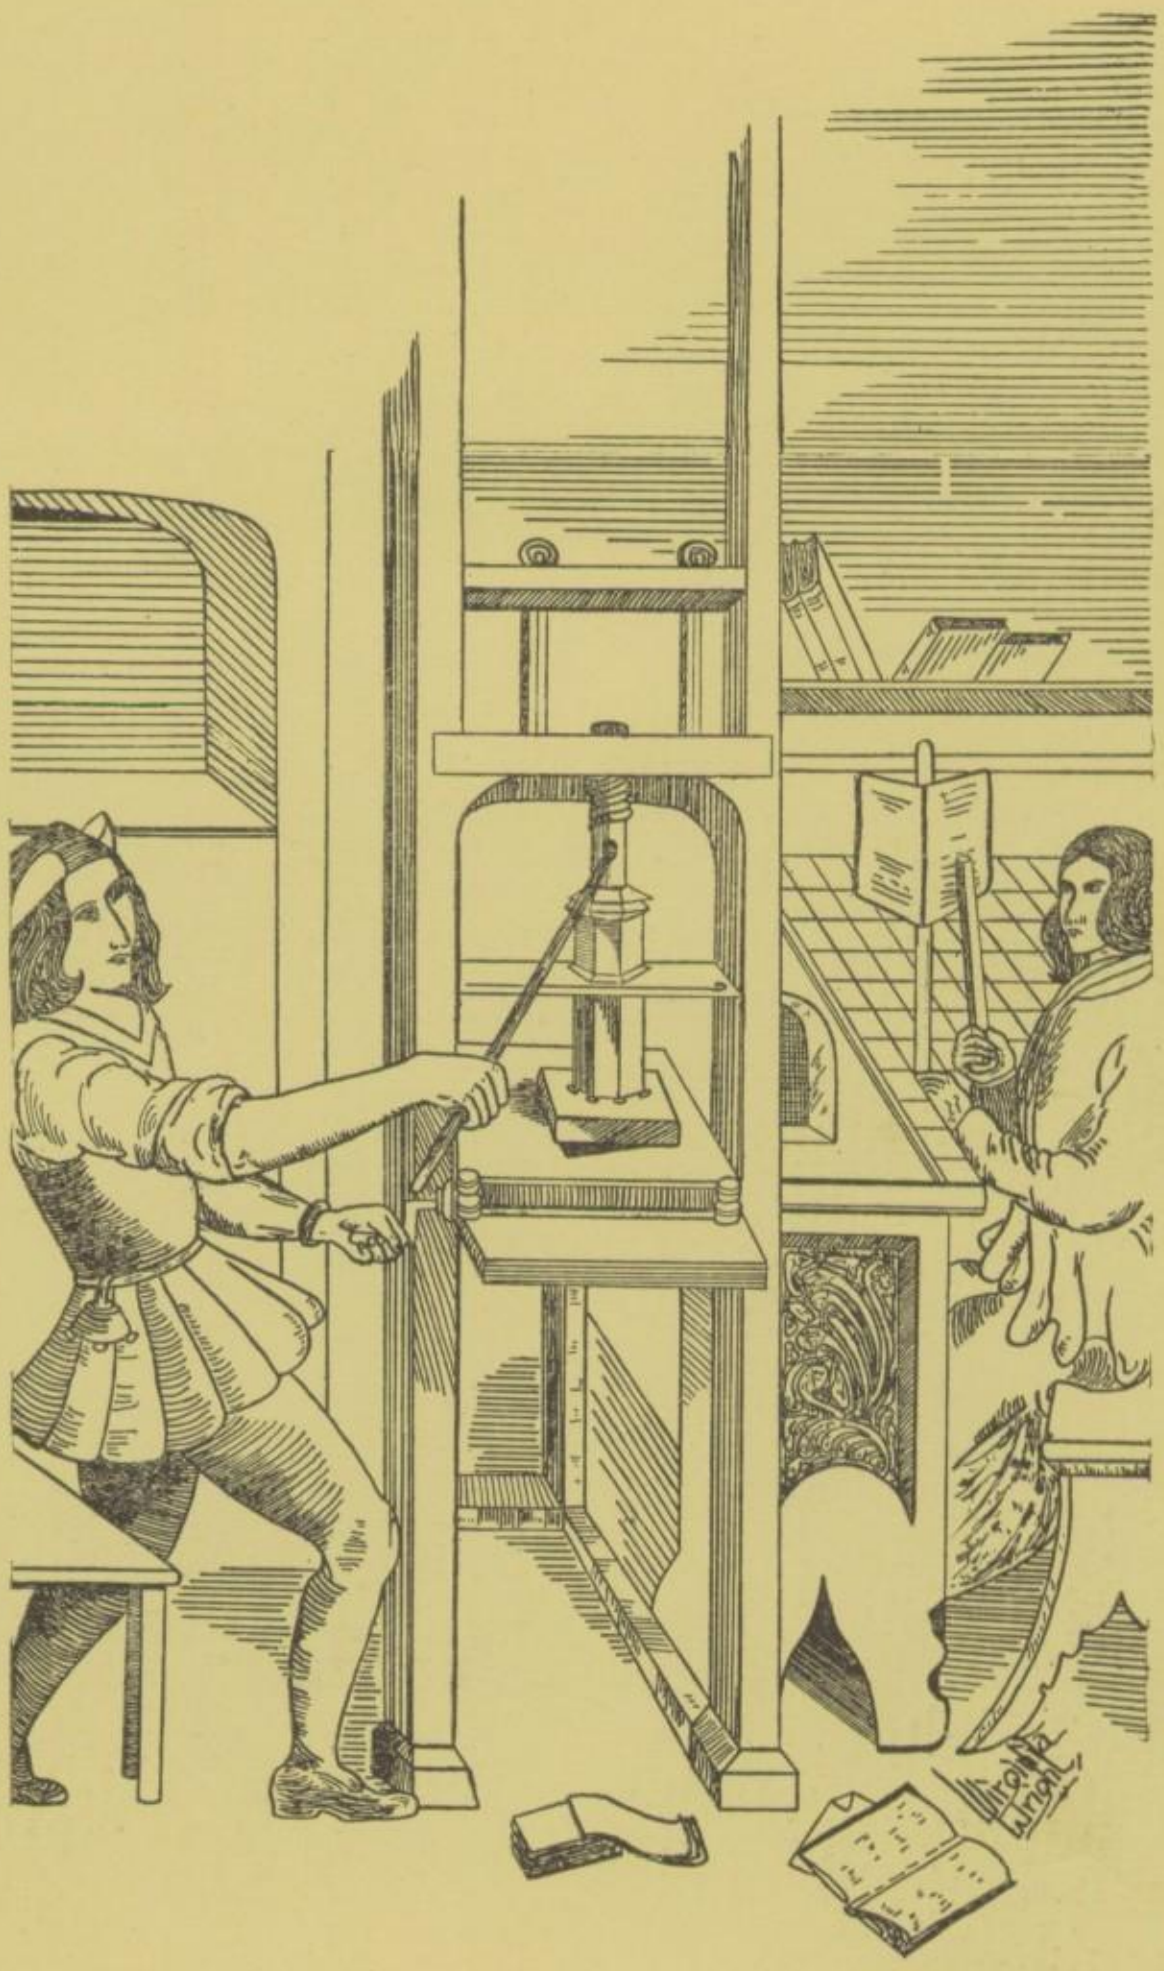
In 1 B. C. the first printing was done by the Chinese who used hand engraved blocks instead of type.

FOREWORD

Printing is the very basis of all modern education. The art of printing is the medium which turned the darkness of the Middle Ages into light. Printing made secure for posterity the intellectual achievements of the past and gave civilization a means of recording all future progress. Believing this and recognizing the importance of this art in their education, the class of 1931 has chosen "Printing and Its Development" as the theme of its Squib.



Johannes Gutenberg, a 15th century German, built the first press for printing with separate letters and movable blocks.

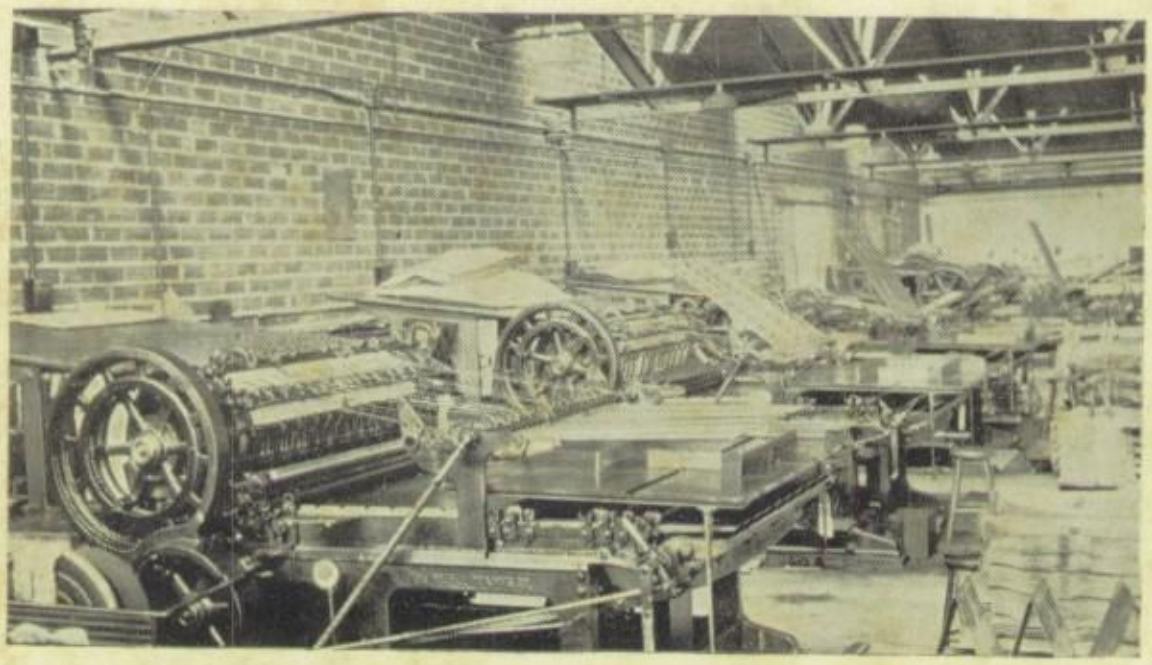
Ben Franklin printed his famous "Poor Richard's Almanac" on a slightly improved press of the Gutenberg type.



These cylinder presses, part of the printing equipment of the Kennedy Carliner, give an idea of how far the art of printing has progressed since the days of Gutenburg.

IN MEMORIAM

The school misses Mary as a loyal student who was always ready to do her part for her school cheerfully and to the best of her ability.

She hath done her bidding here —Procter

ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

Mr. Loper, Mr. Vogel, three faculty representatives and the president of the senior class make up the activities committee. This group supervises all student projects and is the supreme court of the school.

Through the efforts of the activities committee, the athletic field was bought and put in condition a few years ago. This year the committee was responsible for having the lighting equipment installed to make night football possible. The committee also arranged for the purchase of a canvas fence for the field.

The activities committee keeps close watch over the Squib and arranges for the various senior activities. They distribute the school concessions and are especially charged with the school finances.

Arrangements for the distribution of state tourney tickets were made by this committee.

HONOR SOCIETY

In March outstanding seniors are elected to the Honor Society, national organization for the recognition of scholarship, leadership, school service, and high standards of character in high school students. Only fifteen percent. of the graduating class may receive this honor. The students elected must rank in the upper fourth of their class scholastically and receive a majority faculty vote.

No senior could desire a better reward for his scholastic efforts and school services than membership in the National Honor Society. The prospect of such recognition stimulates a desire to work for the school, creates an enthusiasm for scholarship, and encourages the development of initiative and strong character among students.

A committee of teachers plans a banquet and a suitable program for the initiation and presentation of pins to the honor students.

SQUIB STAFF

The possibility of publishing an annual was somewhat doubtful at the beginning of the year. However, the Squib is an institution which seniors are loathe to destroy, and on the conditions that a maximum of $1000 be expended on the book and that receipts for the sale of 400 copies be filed in the office before contracts were let, the activities committee allowed the class to go ahead with the book.

All plans for ways and means of financing the Squib fell to the business managers. They directed the subscription drive, sold advertising for the song sheets used at the ball games, arranged for the senior class to sponsor the sale of tickets for several moving pictures and aided by a Junior Class assistant directed the gym concessions.

The staff takes pride in having published a book that contains all the features of previous books at less than two thirds the cost.

FRENCH CLUB

One of the most popular of Shelby organizations is "Le Cercle Francaise"—the French Club. All French students who make grades of "C" or above may belong and the present membership is about fifty. "Le Cercle" has as its motto "Vouloir, c'est pouvoir"—where there's a will there's a way. The club emblem which is carried out in the pins, is a gold Fleur-de-lys enameled in blue violet and black and bearing the initials L. C. F.

At the beginning of the year a committee distributed "programmes." These booklets listed the date, the hostess, the place and the entertainment for each meeting. Feature meetings were the Christmas party, with its grab-bag, the initiation meeting, the combined "pitch-in souper" and "tackey party" and the party for the Mothers and Fathers of the entire department.

At the invitation of "Le Cercle Francaise" M. Henri Bressolette, French exchange student of Indiana University, came to the high school and gave a talk before all the students on "The Life of a French Collegian" and recited French poems with gestures.

The club gave a short but hilarious French play entitled "Le Faim Est Un Grand Inventeur" before the assembly.

HI-Y

In September the Hi-Y initiated nineteen boys thus reaching a total enrollment of forty-one. The ceremonies included a banquet with Mr. Scott Meiks as principal speaker, followed by the usual initiation stunts.

Sponsored by the Hi-Y, Professor Hoffman, master of magical wonders and mysteries, entertained the school.

Mr. Loper accompanied representatives of the Shelby Hi-Y to Greenfield where they assisted in initiating a similar organization. Another delegation established a like club at Waldron. The local chapter was represented at the Hi-Y Conference at Rushville.

The boys contributed to the State Y. M. C. A. fund for bringing three foreign boys to the Toronto Conferences.

The students and faculty recognize the Hi-Y as an organization of high standards and distinct value to the school.

TRAFFIC MONITORS

Each year Principal Loper chooses ten seniors to represent his authority in the halls. These monitors are placed at the heads of the stairs and at the turns of the halls. It is their duty to see that the stairs are kept clear, that there is no loafing in the halls, running on the stairs or disturbance of any kind.

Students generally respect the monitors and the hall traffic is orderly at all times.

Monitors are required to report for duty at eight o'clock each morning. They are excused three minutes early at noon and evening in order that they may reach their posts before general dismissal.

Being chosen a monitor is an honor because it represents the school's confidence in these seniors as loyal and trustworthy students.

Third row: Harold Meloy, William Spiegel.

QUILL AND SCROLL

For the second time students who have done outstanding work on the Squib and Courier were rewarded by being elected to the Quill and Scroll, national honorary society for high school journalists. To receive this honor a student must rank in the upper one third of his class scholastically, do outstanding work on a publication, be recommended by the sponsor and have a sample of his work approved by Dr. George Gallup, national secretary of the Quill and Scroll.

Candidates were initiated at a banquet attended by members of the faculty, the Columbus Quill and Scroll, representatives of the local newspapers whose editors were made honorary members, last year's Quill and Scroll, and William N. Otto, author of a journalism text, who made the speech of the evening.

In order to make the Quill and Scroll an active school club, the members held a meeting soon after the initiation, electing officers and starting work on new school journalism projects.

SUNSHINE SOCIETY

At Christmas time the girls gave parties for the children of the various grade schools. The society supplied the gifts, games, candy, and oranges and the Hi-Y secured the services of Santa Claus. The entire school contributed food for the Sunshine baskets that were distributed on Christmas eve.

At the invitation of the Sunshine Society the Reverend Josephine Huffer, a Shelbyville minister, came to the high school and gave the girls her own adaptation of the beautiful story "The Other Wiseman" by Henry Van Dyke.

A pitch-in supper, a supper and dance with Hi-Y boys as guests, and a Mother and Daughter Tea were outstanding events on the social calendar.

Elizabeth Barnard edited the scrapbook that the Sunshine Society made as a record of their year's work and sent to the state convention.

At the State Sunshine Convention Shelbyville was awarded the plaque that is given to the state's best society with a large membership.

COURIER STAFF

During the first semester students of the journalism classes took turns in making the assignments and editing the Courier. This plan worked well enough but lacked any definite place of responsibility. At the beginning of the second semester those students who had finished the course in journalism but wished to continue work on the Courier were assigned positions on a staff. This staff was organized on the basis of pages—there being and editor and assistants for each of the four pages—and proved more satisfactory.

Feature Courier editions were the "mid-year explosion" and the sectional basketball tourney numbers. The "explosion" was the last paper published by the first semester classes and was filled with fantastic tales of things possible but not probable. All the "dope" on the teams in the local sectional was printed in the tourney edition and copies of this paper were distributed among the students of all the sectional schools.

LATIN CLUB

Quite appropriately the first Shelbyville High School latin club was organized in 1930 when all the world was commemorating the two thousandth anniversary of the birth of Virgil—greatest of latin poets. The Cicero class took the initiative in establishing this club. The organization of the club is modeled after that of the Roman state, having two consuls officiating at alternate meetings, two aediles to plan the programs and entertainments, a quaester to look after finances, and a censor to keep the minutes. The club name is S. P. Q. R. and the insignia is the fasces.

Meetings are held once a month and the programs have included book reviews, biographies, study of constellations, slides on Roman life, presentation of short latin plays and skits written by students, singing of latin songs, and games involving knowledge of latin and mythology. Members made original latin Valentines and exchanged them at the February meeting.

All advanced students and members of the Caesar classes with grades of "A" or "B" are eligible for membership in the S. P. Q. R.

CHORUS

More than one hundred voices make up the combined boys' and girls' high school chorus. The development of the boys' and girls' choruses as separate units was a new idea this year that has worked out well. No restriction is placed on the membership and the response to the call for candidates was evidence of the students' widespread interest in music.

The main feature of last fall's Sacred Concert was the combined junior-senior chorus. This organization also played a prominent part in the May Festival held during Music Week as well as the Spring Concert. Programs for Commencement and Baccalaureate included music by our high school chorus.

ORCHESTRA

The last few years have made the orchestra a very active part of the music department. The orchestra stimulates interest in music and cultivates a taste for good music.

The combined junior and senior high school orchestras, numbering about fifty pieces, have appeared at the Rotary Club, County Federation of Women's Clubs, Spring Concert, May Festival, Baccalaureate, and Commencement during the past year.

The excellent leadership and co-operation from pupils, school, and public has done much toward encouraging the musicians to greater efforts. The untiring enthusiasm of the director, Mr. Martin Schulz is reflected in the orchestra members.

Faithful practising on the part of the entire group has been an important factor in the developing of this organization.

BAND

A steady increase in the size and quality of the band has marked the last three years. A year ago last fall the band had an enrollment of seventeen which increased to fifty by the end of the year. At present the senior band has sixty-five members in uniform. To these has been added a drum major in full regalia and there are about forty people playing in the junior band which will replace this year's graduates.

The band played for all the home football and basketball games including the Athens charity game. Different students were elected to direct the band at the various games. Last year's community singing of the popular songs played by the band was continued and the plan was again entirely successful.

A concert was presented before the Kiwanis Club by the Senior Band and the Juniors entertained the Colescott Parent-Teachers Club. In the Service Club's charity parade the band was also a feature.

DEBATE TEAM

Shelbyville debate teams had a satisfactory season—each team tasting both victory and defeat by winning one out of two debates. Affirmative speakers defeated Brookville here and lost to Rushville there. The Negative team repeated the performance.

William N. Otto, head of the English department of Shortridge, judged the debates at Shelbyville while Miss Boyd of Connersville High School and Professor Boyd Kelly of Franklin College rendered the decisions at Rushville.

The subject was that set forth by the Indiana State Debating League sponsored by Manchester College: Resolved that the present system of installment buying of consumption goods should be condemned. Installment buying plays a vital part in the lives of so many people that the subject was intensely interesting to both the debaters and audiences.

The debators used a room in the basement of the Public Library as a laboratory, meeting there three nights each week during the season.

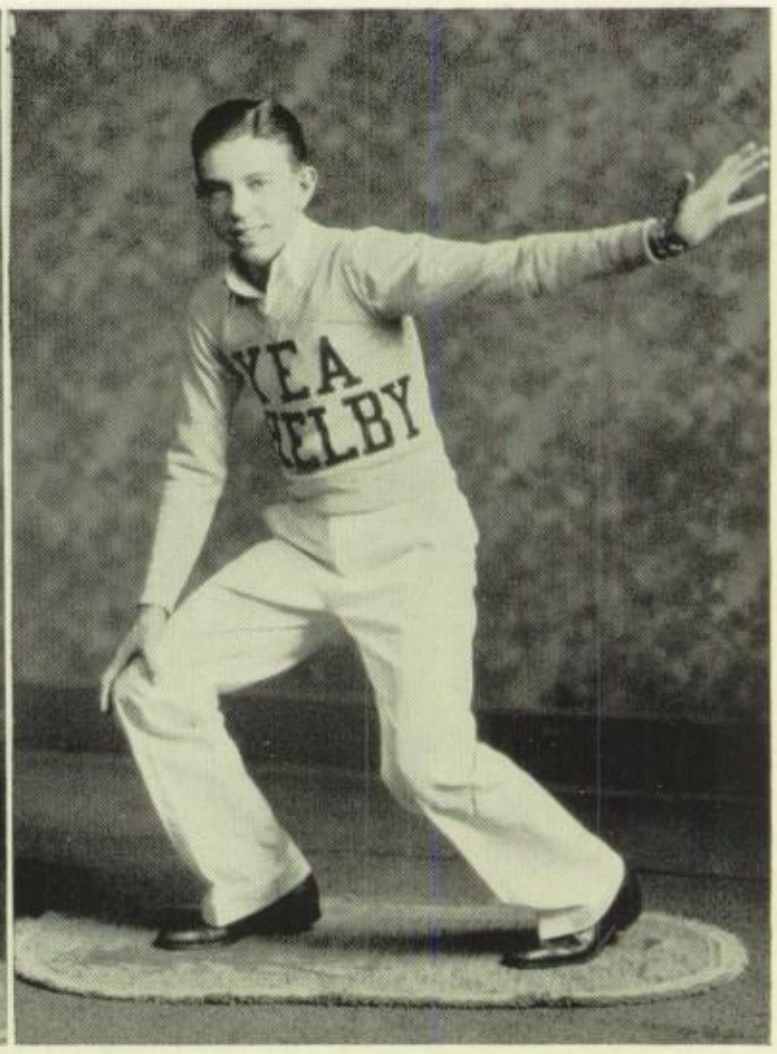
"ED" WHALEY



"ICKEY" EWING

YELL LEADERS

"Ed" Whaley and "Ickey" Ewing are the yell leaders that cause the stands to ring when the team is winning and roar when it is trailing. These boys, both ardent sports fans, back the Mackmen to the limit. They follow the team and lead the cheering away as well as at home.

The team appreciates having yell leaders who can make the fans yell when cheering is needed the most. The ball games wouldn't be complete without the capering white figures waving huge black and gold megaphones.

Ivan Warble and Dale Kaster are "Ed" and "Ickey's" two very capable assistants. The former led the cheering for the adult sections at the home games.

Dale and Ivan graduate this year but "Ed" and "Ickey" may continue their antics for another year.

Hit 'em high, hit 'em low!
Yea Shelby! let's go!

McCULLOUGH McKEAND WHITACRE

COACHES

Coach H. T. McCullough is king of Shelby High basketball. At the close of the 29-30 season, fans predicted a disastrous year for the Mackmen in 30-31. "Mac" just lay low and went to work. As a result the team finished their schedule most successfully. Of course the boys did their part but back of the team there had to be some guiding influence—someone who could make and hold together a winning combination. This man was "Our Coach."

Coach J. M. McKeand developed an unusually strong foot-ball team this year. He puts the "do or die" spirit into his teams. Coach McKeand is not the driver-type coach but one who points out the mistakes and helps the boys correct them. He commands the respect of every boy who works under him. As a result of "Mac's" coaching Shelby football teams become better each year. The schedule for the '31-'32 season has new names listed but the school is placing its confidence in Coach McKeand.

Mr. Charles Whitacre became the assistant football coach after the resignation of Mr. Leslie Remly. "Doc" has charge of the second string players and drills all the boys in fundamentals. He also helps Coaches McCullough and McKeand with the spring sports. Mr. Whitacre is a good athlete and is proving himself a capable coach.

BASKETBALL

Mackmen won twenty-two of twenty-five games and were leaders in the state on percentage basis. The team agrees that much of this success is due to Coach H. T. McCullough, who, by virtue of his ability and high character, whipped the boys into a machine-like team—a team that was "all for one and one for all." It is no wonder that the Mackmen reached this degree of success, for whenever a player had to sacrifice, he did it willingly. Playing with this spirit the boys won victory upon victory.

Shelby lost to Franklin, Horace Mann and Columbus. In both scheduled games the Bulldogs were beaten. Franklin won one game with Shelby and lost one. Such teams as Lebanon, Crawfordsville, Greensburg, Greenfield, Connersville, Rushville, Richmond, Greencastle, Hope and Waldron fell before the banner of Black and Gold.

Mackmen who have closed their high school athletic careers are Lorenzo Linville, John Leap, Don Phipps, Garrell Richey, Nelson Hodges, and Charles Campbell. These fellows gave their team the best they had and deserve all the credit and recognition that can be given them.

Coach McCullough will form his next year's team from Kenneth Gunning, Bruce Wright, Dwight Long, Kenneth Cherry, Raymond Lackey, James Page, Charles Reimann, and Raymond Kendall. The men who have played their last game for Shelby wish these boys every success and hope that they will carry the name of Shelby High to greater honor than ever before.

At the local sectional the Mackmen closed the 1930-31 season by losing to the Columbus aggregation, and thus closed one of the best records known in the history of the team.

FOOTBALL

Shelbyville's football Mackmen fought through their 1930-31 schedule to win seven out of nine games by making a total of 131 points compared to 44 for their opponents. Led by Don Phipps, Kiwanis Medal winner, the McKeand'smen repulsed Crawfordsville, Connersville, Greenfield, Seymour, Columbus, Rushville, and Anderson. They lost to Shortridge and Connersville.

Shelby tied with Connersville for first place in the Southern Football Conference. The last game of the season was particularly interesting because it compared the strength of the Northern Conference winner, Anderson, with that of a Southern winner, Shelbyville.

Early in the season the athletic field was equipped with lights for night football. This feature added to the interest of local fans and proved a success in every way.

Rear: Coach J. M. McKeand.

Coach McKeand deserves no end of credit for it was he who put fight and co-ordination into the team. As a result of his coaching, the team developed into the strongest squad known in Shelbyville since this sport was introduced in the school.

The seniors who will be lost this year are Phipps, Linville, Haltom, Richey, Maxwell, Junken, Lee, G. Coffin, Campbell and D. Mitchell. Hodges is also ineligible for future high school sports. These boys have all played good, consistent ball and are deserving of praise. Coach McKeand will form his next year's squad around Wright, F. Coffin, Kendall, Carr, Gunning, Riemann, Lackey, H. Mitchell, Page, and Reed. On this material Shelby High places its hopes for success in 1931-32.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE, 1930-31

Shelby	14	Shortridge	32
Shelby	7	Connersville	6
Shelby	6	Crawfordsville	0

Shelby	22	Anderson	0

BASEBALL

Seventy-five boys answered Coach McCullough's first call for Baseball—the largest group in the history of the school. Mac was very much pleased with his material and selected about twenty boys to follow his regular work-outs. From this group, the most promising were chosen to participate in the games.

The schedule this year is a very difficult one and has a greater number of games. Such strong teams as Tech, Columbus, Greensburg, Greenfield, Washington (Indianapolis), Franklin, and Seymour appear on the rostrum. However they started the season in fine shape by downing Greensburg, 5 to 2, and Knightstown, 3 to 2.

TRACK

Despite the fact that unfavorable weather prevailed, Coach McKeand issued his call for track candidates early this year. Fifty boys responded and finally the team was cut to twenty-eight. These received track equipment and have been out every evening, rain or shine.

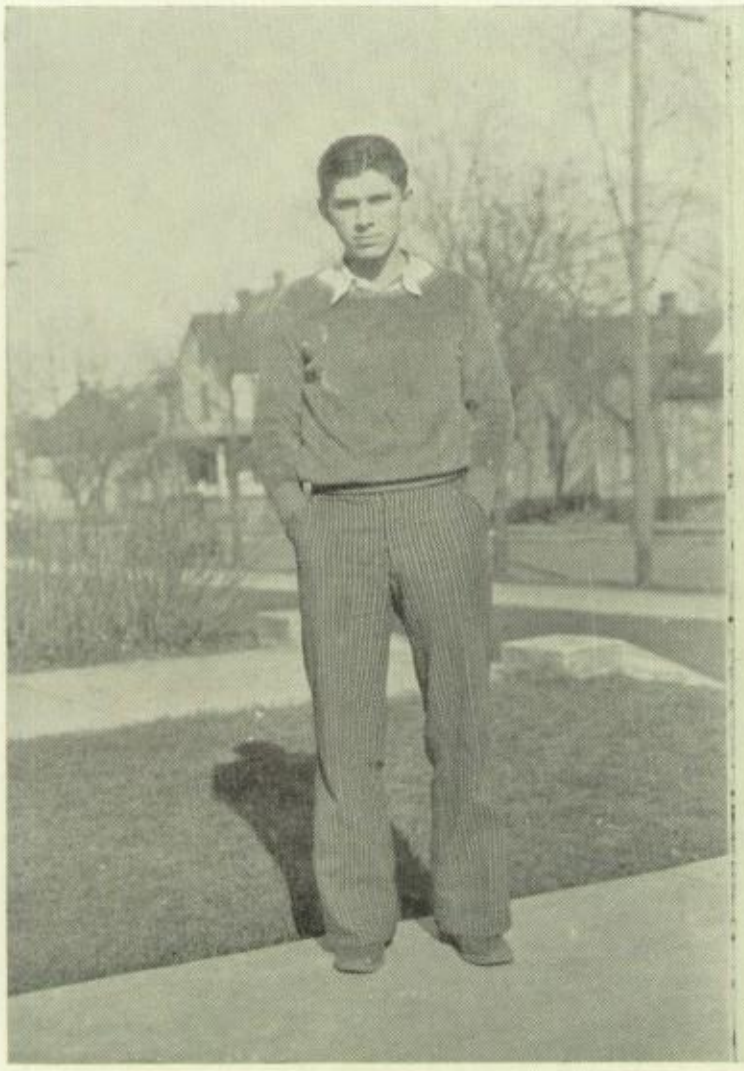
There are five meets before the Sectional at Rushville and the State at Indianapolis. The boys started off the season in fine shape by winning a triangular meet at Batesville. Gunning, Richey, Carr, Phipps, Armstrong, Reimann, D. Mitchell, Wright and Schmidt proved to be the foundation of the team.

Those who are Seniors and can not participate next year are Coffin, Coers, Campbell, Junken, Leap, D. Mitchell, Main, Phipps, Richey and Schmidt. These boys have done creditable work and deserve honor.

Armstrong, Adams, Carr, Cherry, DeCoursey, Gunning, Lackey, H. Mitchell, Nunn, Page, Reimann, Reed, Scott, Schuler, Thurston, Wright, Mings, and Curran will probably answer the call again next season.

SCHEDULE

April 11	Triangular Meet at Batesville.	May 9	Seymour, Batesville, Rushville, Greenfield, Connersville and Shelbyville, here.
April 18	Dual Meet at Seymour.
May 2	Hoosier Southern Conference at Bloomington.	May 16	Sectional at Rushville.
		May 23	State Meet at Indianapolis.



FAT LINVILLE

Donald Phipps, giant tackle of the Mackmen football team, was awarded this year's Kiwanis Medal. Don, a favorite with all the fans, was an important cog in the McKeand-coached machine and was deserving of the honor bestowed upon him.

The committee, consisting of Mr. McKeand, coach; Mr. Wilbur Pell, Kiwanis representative; and Mr. Loper, principal, found it a difficult task to select a boy who was outstanding in ability, scholarship, attitude, and sportsmanship to receive the award. Without doubt there couldn't have been a better choice than Phipps—a player who gave everything he had in every game.

Lorenzo Linville, star backguard on the basketball team, a four-year man on the varsity squad, and an all-round athlete, received the annual Paul Cross Medal. His ability as captain to direct the Mackmen has been an important factor in their victories.

Loyalty to the team and school, physical, mental and moral characteristics, sportsmanship, ability to play skilfully and co-operation are the bases upon which Supt. W. F. Vogel, Prin. W. F. Loper, Coach McCullough, and Joseph Scheleen and Ralph Chessire, sports writers of the local newspapers, chose Linville to receive the twelfth medal given in memory of Paul Cross.

EDITORIAL PAGE

THANK YOU

There is an old saying to the effect that we cannot succeed independently—we must have the aid of our fellow men. No one realizes the truth of these words more clearly than the Squib staff. We have done our best but without the help of our sponsors, the senior class, and many others our efforts would have been wasted.

The staff is grateful. We feel particularly indebted to Mr. Densford for his constant supervision and advice, to Mr. Loper for his encouragement, to Mrs. Tindall for her help with the art work, and to Mr. Puckett, treasurer of the activities committee, for directing our finances.

The backing of the entire senior class has been invaluable. Without their efforts in the subscription drive, we could not have published an annual.

SHELBY NEEDS

Paramount among the present wishes and needs of the Shelbyville High School is that of a new auditorium. The present chapel is entirely inadequate both from the standpoint of seating capacity and stage arrangement.

Two students are obliged to occupy a seat that accommodates but one comfortably. The seniors have found it necessary to discontinue their class play due to this lack of space and stage facilities. At present it is impossible to invite the public to share student programs.

Additional class rooms are another pressing need. The administration found great difficulty in adjusting the schedule to give this year's mid-semester freshmen class a time and place for meeting. The lack of permanent class rooms compels several teachers to rush from one floor to another in order to conduct their various classes.

EDUCATION

My hope for our high school is that it may continue to be a school that does its work in such a way as to rank with the best, ever looking with open mind for the new, with the idea of appropriating what is true, but that it may never forget that education consists not primarily in acquiring knowledge, but in getting wisdom, that is, in the development of character, of the ability to think clearly, and the ability to act wisely.—W. F. Loper

SCHOOL ANNUALS

Every senior annual is first of all a memory book. In determining the contents of such a book, the staff is guided by the question: "What will this annual mean to us ten years from now? A book that has been so planned increases in value to the graduate as the years go by. Each page will bring memories of some incident in school life, some activity or friendship, some student success or triumph.

However, the decision governing the publication of an annual is worthy of thought and deliberation. Finances must be seriously considered. Someone must devote a great deal of time to the planning and assembling of this book. Financial and editorial worries often lead the staff and school to ask, "Is an annual worth while? Is all this expense and work justified?"

We can only answer these questions by asking other questions. "Does the student body support the annual? Is the annual really a record that the students want to carry away?"

If "Yes" is the answer, then forward to bigger and better high school annuals. If only a few seniors and fewer underclassmen buy the annual, then the money and labor had best be expended elsewhere.

ELIZA WALKER

CHARLES CAMPBELL

POPULARITY CONTEST

Eliza Walker and Charles Campbell were voted the most popular students in a popularity contest conducted by the Shelby Courier. This was a new feature at Shelbyville High School.

The names of six students, nominated by the Courier staff, were submitted to the school. Courier workers distributed approximately six hundred ballots among students and teachers.

The candidates were chosen on the basis of school loyalty and service, scholarship and personality but the voters were asked to consider only personality.

The popularity contest and the May festival both aim to discover and give recognition to those students who make the greatest personal appeal to their school mates. Consequently these elections are of major interest to all students and school supporters.

The Courier plans to make the popularity contest an annual feature.

MAY COURT

Every year Shelbyville High School crowns its most popular senior girl "Queen of the May." Seniors nominate seven girls whose names are submitted to the student body. The results of this ballot are kept secret until the night of the May Festival. Then the girl who received the most votes is crowned queen with the remaining six as her attendants.

Seniors derive a great deal of pleasure from this ceremony and insist upon continuing it although it has lost much of its former prominence.

Each year the senior boy having the highest scholastic ranking in the class is named Lord Mayor. Under this title he represents the school in the May Festival and crowns the May Queen.

The Lord Mayor accompanied by six other senior boys escort the queen and her attendants to the throne where for the evening they are her faithful servants.

This ceremony is a pretty one that never fails to attract and hold the attention of all students and school friends.

Constantly Searching

For centuries astronomers have looked into the skies searching for new worlds, constellations and stars. Aside from their interesting research work, they have learned much that is of practical scientific value.

Similarly, in the field of student publications, the Indianapolis Engraving Company searches constantly for new ideas, plans and methods that will assist year-book staffs to publish successfully books characteristic of their school and community. The results of these efforts are gratifying.
